Press release

Award-winning website Ljubljana, European Green Capital

The website www.zelenaljubljana.si, that is, www.greenljubljana.com has received the professional award Special Kudos within the scope of the international awards platform CSS Design Awards.

CSS Awards Design is an international web awards platform presenting and awarding the best examples of integrated graphic solutions in the world with customised user experience and target group activation.

Within the framework of the European Green Capital 2016 the City of Ljubljana has given internet communication a key role. On the website www.greenljubljana.com (www.zelenaljubljana.si) we are informing different target groups about the »green« achievements to date and activities during the year when Ljubljana is the proud holder of the prestigious title European Green Capital, and then motivating them to contribute to a greener future.

With representative projects that took Ljubljana on the green journey we convey ideas on how individuals can lead even more environmentally friendly lives and then we appeal to the visitors to join the movement »Green yourself«.

The website was developed by the Enki d.o.o. agency.
